A. M. E. Quadrennial Conference.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 2.—The quadrennial conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, which is to continue three weeks, began here to-day. Nine bishops and 317 delegates were present, representing every State in the Union. In addition, delegates are present from Canada, Nova Scotia, Bermuda, Santo Domingo, Haytı, Sierra Leone and Liberia. Among the notable personages, lay and clerical, in attendance at the conferare Bishop D. A. Payne, of now in his eightieth year, has occupied the episcopal chair for forty-two years, and who is the founder of the $150,000 universty near Xenia, O.; W. A. A. Whitman, of Arkansas; Dr. W. B. Deraick, a West Indian by birth, who represents the New York Conference; J. E. Lee, a circuit judge in Florida, and Bishop Tanner, who is foremost in the religious literature of his race.

The most important business to be transacted by the conference is the selection of three bishops, two to fill the vacancies made by the death of Bishop J. P. Camp-bell. of this city, and Bishop R. R. Derney. of Atlanta, and an additional one to be resident African bishop.

The Presbyterian Creed.

NEW YORK, May 2.-At a meeting of the New York Presbytery to-day it was proposed by Rev. Charles L. Thompson, of this city, to overture the General Assembly to be convened at Portland, Ore., to refer the report already made by the committee which has been revising the Creed of the Presbyterian Church back again to the same committee in order that a new Creed might be formulated, which, containing the substance of the doctrinal system of the Presbyterian Church, might be wide enough in its application as to be adopted for use and meet the demands of all sects of Presbyterians. The proposition was referred to the presbytery by a vote of 44 to 27.

Rev. J. C. Nightingale, of Stamford, Conn., wanted the presbytery to approve of the making known to theological students during their course of study the heretical views entertained by certain ministers, in order that they might be the better guarded against them. The friends of Dr. Briggs regarded this as a slap at the Professor and Rev. F. H. Mailing. Rev. Dr. Field and others spoke against it, and a substitute was adopted declaring it inexpedient to take action on the matter at present.

TEED AND HIS "ANGELS."

The Good Women of Washington Heights Waiting for Them with Tar and Feathers.

CHICAGO, May 2.-Dr. Cyrus Teed, the wrecker of many happy homes on the Pacific coast, as well as the destroyer of harmony in the once harmonious Economite Society in Pennsylvania, and who, it is alleged, left San Francisco with a squad of young women traveling under the cognomen lof "angels," was to arrive here to-day. He did not arrive, or it he did, has manged to make himself in visible to the physical vision. Perhaps it is well for Teed and his "angels" that he made himself scarce, as the good people of Washington Heights, where the new Christ had purchased the old Hilliard homestead for the purpose of establishing a "heaven" had made up their minds that a coat of tar and feathers would just about suit the exigencies of the case. In some quarters it is stated that Teed passed through the Heights at 6:40 this morning. but a most diligent search failed to reveal his whereabouts. The people are decided about Dr. Teed and his flock. The male portion of the population do not object for the reason that they think they see an outlook for some excitement in the willage. The female element of the place are opposed for many reasons, all of which they keep mysteriously quiet.

Every issue contained a scurrilous letter in which scandalous charges were made against some of the best known most influential people of this This evening about a dozen of the injured persons, heading a small mob, visited his shop and forced him to confess. Then they stripped him, and put on tar and feathers. He made no resistance. The crowd numbered several hundred, but were quiet, and the police did not interfere.

Chicago Must First Restore Rates. St. Louis, Mo., May 2.- The managers of the lines in the St. Louis East-bound Traffic Association were importuned twice yes-terday by Chairman Blanchard, of the Central Traffic Association, acting in behalf of the Chicago lines, to withdraw the twenty-three-cent rate on sixth-class freight, East St. Louis to New York, announced to go into effect to-morrow. In reply Chairman Braisted stated that as soon as the lake-and-rail rates from Chicago were restored there, would be no objection to the old basis being restored at this gateway, but that the St. Louis traffic interests must first be placed on a parity with the Chicago route. At present the Chicago basis 18 20 cents. A restored tariff would place it at 25 cents, all rail, from Chicago and 29 cents from St. Louis.

"Reds" Demand Their Flags. CHICAGO, May 2.-Chief of Police Mc-Claughery had a lively setto with representatives of the "Reds" to-day in connection with the flag incident yesterday. A delegation headed by Wm. Urban, of the Arbiter Zeitung, called on the chief for the return of the red drapery and a heated discussion arose over the so-called arbitrary action of the police. "I don't see why a man should be bound to carry certain colors," said, Urban. "It is an invasion of

DEEMING IS NOT A LUNATIC

So the Australian Jury Which Tried the Notorious Murderer Decided.

Convicted of Killing His Wife and Sentenced to Death-His Speech in Court-Uisterites Drilling for War.

DEEMING CONVICTED.

The Melbourne Jury Refused to Believe the Murderer Was Insane. MELBOURNE, Australia, May 2 .- Deeming, alias Williams, who has been on trial here for the murder of his last wife, has been found guilty. Attached to verdict was a sentence in which the jury said that Deeming was not insane.

When the trial was resumed this morning the first witness called was Dr. Springthorpe, who related Deeming's explanation of how his wives disappeared. Deeming said that while he and his first wife were living at Rain Hill, near Liverpool, a man named Ben Young had told him that his |Deeming's| wife would leave him for £50. He paid the money and his wife left him. He supposed that Young had killed her while he [Deeming] was coming to Melbourne with his second wife [Miss Mather], for whose murder he was being tried. His second wife, Deeming said, confessed that she was already married, and she left him in Melbourne because she was afraid of being implicated in the murder of his first wife. Deeming is noted for being a notorious liar, and the above is a fair specimen of his ability in that line. The fact is that the Rain Hill murder was known to no one save Deeming until after it was known that he had killed his wife here. It was the discovery of the latter crime that led the police here to notify the Liverpool police of their suspicion that Deeming had murdered his wife and children at Rain Hill. It will, therefore, be seen that his statement relative to his second wife leaving him for fear of being implicated in the Rain Hill murders is without a single grain of truth. After some further testimony by Dr. Springthorpe, that did prisoner of the crime charged against him, the defense announced that its case was closed. After the evidence was all in Deeming's counsel appealed to the jury to give the prisoner the benefit of any doubt that they might entertain as to his sanity or insanity. The crown counsel contended that there was not a particle of evidence of the insanity of the prisoner, and he said that the jury ought to dismiss all such nonsense from their minds. At this point Deeming interrupted the crown counsel. It was not the law, he said, but the press that was trying him. If he could bring himself to believe that he committed marder he would plead guilty rather than submit to the gaze of the people in the court—the ugliest race he had ever seen. Some of the witnesses against him had deliberately hed. Whatever he could say would be dis believed. His witnesses had been kept out of the way. People had sworn to seeing him whom he had never seen in his life. In his own mind he knew he was not guilty. As long as Emily Mathers had been his wife he had dealt with her as gently and as affectionately as it was possible for any man to deal with a woman. I remember no incident which would lead to this awful crime with which I am charged. statement that the body in this city was that of Emily Mathers is a lie. My one comfort is the knowledge that Emily Mathers is alive. The newspapers have ruined my life for evermore. If I were freed to-night I would drown myself. I fought the blacks, and have encountered lions single-handed. I do not fear death. I do not expect justice from either the judge, the jury or the public. Instead of the trial being postponed so as to enable my connsel to collect evidence showing my innocence of the borrible crime for which I am being tried for my life, it was fixed to occur when the public was enraged against It was generally thought the trial would end to-day, and consequently the courtroom was literally packed with people who wished to hear the jury announce its decision. No one thought it would take the jurors long to decide the fate of the accused. Outside of the court-house a large crowd assembled, and it was clamorously impatient for the verdict. The people finally became so demonstrative and noisy that the police were forced to clear the street. The announcement of the verdict was greeted with expressions of general estisfaction, for no one believes there is a particle of doubt as to Deeming's guilt, not only of the murder here but of those committed at Rain Hill, near Liverpool. After the verdict was announced, Deem ing asked the judge to refrain from the usual exhortation. The judge complied with the prisoner's wish, and simply annonnced the death sentence. Deeming composedly responded, "Thank you."

THIS LOOKS WARLIKE, Every Orangeman in Ulster Is Pledged to Buy a Rifle and Learn to Use It.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal, LONDON, May 2.—It has been spoken of pounds at 20c. as noteworthy of late that the belligerent orators of Ulster and their English sympathizers have been less outspoken than formerly in declaring that the Ulstermen would never submit to Irish home rule. An occasional outburst of that sort has occurred, but as a rule there has been little talk about "dying in the last ditch," rather than accept the new order of things, On the contrary, the text of most public speakers has been that if home rule is carried Ulster will inaugurate a constitutional sgitation for its repeal, and will meanwhile refuse to pay taxes to the officers of the home government. From certain startling facts which your correspondent has just discovered, however, it appears that this sudden moderation of speech is deceptive, and that thoughts of violence continue to animate the people of Ulster. It is learned that the leaders are secretly and actively organizing for what will be, if entered upon. virtually a civil war. Every member of every Orange lodge in the province is pledged to provide himself with a ritle and several hundred rounds of ammunition within a month after the date of the success of the Liberals at the general elections, should that party be victorious. Drilling in the use of fire-arms is carried on at every lodge meeting. The Orange policemen connive at this procedure, while no policeman who is not an Orangeman is allowed to get wind of what is going on. Your correspondent accidentally learned the facts in the case through a London financier, who on Saturday donated £500 to the fund being raised for the purpose of buying arms and instructing the loyal leaders in mili-tary tactics. This instruction is being furnished in a curious manner. The London volunteer force is utilized for the purpose. About a score of Ulstermen arrive in London every week and join a selected regiment of volunteers as ordinary recruits. This has been going on since about the 1st of April. The plan is to give each batch about two months' training, when they resign and return home to make room for others and to themselves act as in structors to their fellow-patriots at home. The fund referred to is drawn upon for the expense of the journeys and also for living expenses while in London, provided the recruits cannot obtain employment of some kind during their stay, which would aid in paying their board bills. The fund is also intended to be used to transport to England any molated Protestant families who may decide to make the change in place of residence. The scheme is so extensive and is necessarily known to so many interested people that it is not likely that it can be kept from the knowledge of the general public much longer. An inquiry in Parliament upon the subject is among the probabilities of the near future.

One tiny, sugar-coated Pellet's a gentle laxative—three to four act as a cathartic. Sick Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks and derangements of the stomach and bowels, are prevented, relieved and cured. As a Liver Pill, they're unequaled. They're purely vegetable, perfectly harmless—the smallest, cheapest, and easiest to take. They're the cheapest pill you can buy, because they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You only pay for the good you get. Can you ask more? That's the peculiar plan all Dr. Pierce's medicines are sold on.
